

EUR-AVIA - CANNES 2007

General Aviation Exhibition, the international event on the Côte d'Azur

From Friday 27th to Sunday 29th April 2007 – International Airport of Cannes Mandelieu (LFMD)

Cannes, January 9th 2007 - On the road to success !

The EUR-AVIA exhibition, launched this autumn by the Company SD Evenements, has already received more than 1000 requests for visitor's badges in less than two months.

Since the opening of the Internet site www.eur-avia.com numerous airmen from all European countries have registered and notified the licence number of their planes to ensure the good organization of aircraft movements. This mobilization of visitors, due to Eur-Avia's massive presence in specialized and partner magazines, proves, if need be, the expectation of the public for high quality exhibition dedicated to general aviation.

The exhibition will open its doors from Friday 27th to Sunday 29th April 2007 at the International Airport of Cannes Mandelieu (LFMD). Because the exhibition is organized along a single aisle, visitors will have easy access to all the machines on show.

The presence of planes powered by compression engines, jets and helicopters within one sole event, will allow visitors to have a global view of what the aeronautical industry may offer. Eur-Avia will also have at its disposal an important number of second hand planes on display being offered for sale by private owners or professionals.

All has been undertaken to welcome, in the best possible conditions, the visitors and the exhibitors thanks to important partnerships with hotels that offer greatly reduced rates as quoted on the web site www.eur-avia.com

About EUR-AVIA

The aim of this event is to bring together the leading protagonists in general aviation in order to offer the possibility to a demanding clientele to discover the latest inventions and industrial innovations. This event is conceived to be the best commercial exhibition of the aeronautical industry. Organised by the company SD Evénements, leaders on the French Riviera of high class exhibitions and in partnership with the most important specialised magazines, EUR-AVIA is a rendez vous not to be missed.
